

IT NOW APPEARS THAT ABSOLUTE NEUTRALITY OF CHINESE EMPIRE CAN NOT LONG BE MAINTAINED

Chinese May Take Up Arms Against Russians and Japs.

Another Russian Cruiser Blows Up With Heavy Loss of Life.

Troops in Siberia Suffer With Intensely Cold Weather.

No Definite News as Yet of Further Engagement Between Troops of the Far East—Alexieff Leaves Port Arthur to Organize Land Forces—Latest From Seat of War.

PEKING, Feb. 16.—It appears today more certain than ever that the absolute neutrality of China toward the Russo-Japanese war cannot be maintained. The Dowager Empress has dismissed Prince Su, who was the strongest advocate of Chinese neutrality in the corps of imperial advisers. The Empress is said to be in somewhat of a dilemma, the conviction growing on her that China is the real stake of war and that it is necessary to prepare to resist absorption whichever of the two nations at war prove victorious. The result may be that the flowery kingdom instead of joining hands with Japan as has been prophesied, will take up arms against both, and that the fight will become a three cornered one.

RAILS LAID ACROSS THE LAKE ICE.
IRKUTSK, RUSSIA, Feb. 16.—A most successful trial of rails over the ice of Lake Baikal with locomotives was made today in the presence of Prince Khilkoff, Russian minister of Highways. The completion of rails across the ice of the lake will be a most important feat as communication with Manchuria will thus be complete.

FIFTY BELOW ZERO IN SIBERIA.
BERLIN, Feb. 16.—The Frankfurter Zeitung today reports that the temperature throughout Siberia registers in the neighborhood of fifty degrees below zero, Fahrenheit. Troops traveling across Siberia are suffering intensely from the cold. A number of them have been frozen to death. Supplies have broken down and soldiers at the eastern end of the country are starving.

ANOTHER RUSSIAN SHIP BLOWN UP.
LONDON, Feb. 16.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg this morning states that it has been officially announced there that the Russian cruiser Bovarin has suffered a like fate to the torpedo transport Yenisei, and has been blown up by a mine in the harbor of Port Arthur. The Bovarin is said to have been completely destroyed. One hundred and ninety-seven officers and men of the cruiser were killed.

MARTIAL LAW IS PROCLAIMED.
TOKIO, Feb. 16.—(Bulletin)—Martial law was today proclaimed for the whole of Japan.

TO INAUGURATE A LAND CAMPAIGN.
CHIFU, CHINA, Feb. 16.—Word reached here today that Viceroy Alexieff had left Port Arthur for Mukden and other interior points in Manchuria, to reorganize land forces and inaugurate a land campaign. Rumors have reached here of a naval fight at Chin Wank Tao on the gulf of Liao Tung.

TWO NEW JAPANESE CRUISERS.
YOKOHAMA, JAPAN, Feb. 16.—The Japanese cruisers Nisshin and Kasuga, recently purchased from the Argentine Republic arrived safe at Yokohama this morning. They sailed from Genoa, Italy, some weeks ago.

London, Feb. 16.—There is today the usual paucity of official news regarding the movements of the fleets and land forces of the opposing nations in the far East. But one report which may prove of real importance is at hand. This is conveyed in a dispatch from St. Petersburg which reached here by the way of New York, stating that announcement had been made in the Russian capital that the Russian second class cruiser Bovarin has been blown up and completely destroyed by a Russian mine in the harbor of Port Arthur. The dispatch giving the alleged details, says the cruiser was reduced to twisted scrap iron, and 197 officers and men were blown to atoms. No confirmation has reached here as yet.

The chief interest today continues to center in the probable movements of the land forces, for, inasmuch as Japan has shown so completely her superiority at sea warfare, it is on the land that supreme test is expected to come. There are many rumors current of clashes here and there, but nothing in the least official or definite is obtainable. A dispatch from Chifu says it is reported there that a clash has occurred on the banks of the Yalu river which forms, for some distance, the boundary line between Manchuria and Korea. The report is not credited, for while the Russian forces are concentrated in large numbers at that point, it is hardly possible that Japanese troops in sufficient number to engage the Russians have reached that far north in Korea. Again, it is thought, as pointed out yesterday, the Japanese forces in Korea will spend the coming days in preparation for a supreme test while the majority of the Japanese forces will be hurried to Manchuria to aid in the investment of Port Arthur. It is of primary importance that this attack on Port Arthur by land as well as by sea, be made in the very near future, as any time allowed to elapse will mean that Russia will be fast that much more thoroughly prepared for the encounter. The railroad across Lake Baikal is rapidly nearing completion, and when this is complete, a constant stream of troops can be kept pouring into Manchuria and the vicinity of the proposed point of attack, from home garrisons. The Russians too, are known to be advancing the fortifications along the gulf of Liao Tung, in the vicinity of Port Arthur, and forces of troops are being spread along the peninsula toward Dainy and even further north to meet and repel if possible any landing force of Japanese.

Another report, most significant in its possibilities comes from Peking. According to this dispatch the Empress Dowager is rapidly becoming convinced that China is the price for which the two belligerents are in reality fighting. This puts an entirely new aspect on the situation. Should China once become convinced that an attempt would be made, at the end of the present conflict, to absorb her there is little likelihood that she would side with either nation, or even wait till the fight was over. The only alternative, it appears would be for her to take arms against the double enemy.

FLEET SIGHTED.
London, Feb. 16.—The Exchange Telegraph company, publishes a Paris dispatch station that word has reached there that a large Japanese fleet has been sighted in the Gulf of Liao Tung and that fears are entertained that troops will be landed for the purpose of cutting the railroad to Port Arthur.

GERMAN
Cruisers Fired Upon by Japanese Says Semi-Official Dispatch Today.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 16.—(Bulletin)—A semi-official message from the headquarters of Viceroy Alexieff at Port Arthur states that the German cruiser Hansa, which had been sent to Port Arthur to take away German subjects there was fired on by Japanese warships. The Hansa also had some Russian women and children aboard.

The message adds that Japan has informed China that in the event of China declaring herself neutral toward the belligerents she must take measures to secure the frontiers and strengthen the army of the great wall.

During the attack on Port Arthur last week, continues the dispatch, three Japanese torpedo boats were sunk.

Messages from Port Arthur are now received more readily. Direct telegraph communication between Port Arthur and Irkutsk, Russia, was opened on Friday. All was then quiet in the far eastern city.

JAPANESE
To the Number of One Hundred Thousand and Will Sail Within the Coming Week.

Shanghai, Feb. 16.—Advices received from Nagasaki state that more than 100,000 Japanese soldiers will be embarked upon transports and sail within the next week.

The transports will set out from several different ports. All the arrangements for the vessels and the supply lighters are already completed.

The points at which the troops will disembark is kept a profound secret. A boom is being laid across the entrance of Nagasaki harbor.

CONFLICTING
And Unconfirmed Rumors Concerning the War Were Published This Morning in London.

London, Feb. 16.—The voluminous dispatches from the far East, published here this morning, are again characterized by absence of real light on the situation. Numerous unconfirmed and conflicting rumors are even, and among them is the report cabled in these dispatches to the Advocate yesterday of another engagement at Port Arthur, in which the Russians lost eight vessels sunk and ten captured.

A correspondent of The Daily Mail, who witnessed the engagement off Port Arthur, confirms this morning his previous accounts of the fight, and asserts again that one Japanese torpedo boat was sunk and another deserted by its crew in a sinking condition and subsequently captured by the Russians.

He says also that the Japanese lost one battleship and had one cruiser put out of action, and that the colonel of the Fifteenth Russian regiment was killed by a shell during the bombardment.

Cablegrams to The Daily Mail from Weihaiwei and Niuchwang report a Japanese fleet with transports, cruising in the gulf of Pechili, apparently with the idea of effecting a landing near Port Dalny.

NO BATTLESHIPS SEEN.
St. Petersburg, Feb. 16.—Major General Pflug, Viceroy Alexieff's chief of staff, telegraphs that the situation at Port Arthur Sunday was unchanged. Reports from Ying au, near Newchwang, he says, declare that the Japanese are preparing to land at Tsing-ta. A message received from the frontier guard says that mounted patrols, believed to be Japanese, were seen in the vicinity of Hsin Ming Ting northwest of Mukden.

No Japanese battle ships have been seen in the roadstead of Tatung-au, at the mouth of the Liao river.

RUSSIA
Recovering From Amazement at Her Defeat and is Re-arranging Her Campaign.

St. Petersburg, via frontier, Feb. 16.—Military and naval officials are recovering from the first amazement at their defeats at the hands of Japan, and are rapidly re-arranging the plan of campaign. It is recognized that Russia, until heavily reinforced must act on the defensive. Port Arthur is regarded as impregnable, so that when its approaches and neighboring coasts are secure, it is believed Japan will waste herself vainly against it. The next step in advance will be the movement of the main Russian army from the Yalu into Korea. Diplomats here now regard Secretary Hay's note relative to China and the limitation of the war area as practically harmless. They believe that should Japan be crushed by Russia, the powers are not likely to dispute any arrangements Russia may wish to make regarding China, while in the event of Japan winning Russia with her greater European influence would be likely to find Hay's note useful in depriving Japan of the fruits of her victory.

For the Orient.

London, Feb. 16.—The White Star Line steamer Majestic, which is to sail Wednesday from Liverpool for New York, will take among her passengers the Earl of Caithness and General Sir William Nicholson, Doctor-General of the Military Intelligence of the War Office, and Colonel J. A. L. Haldane, of the Gordon Highlanders, who will accompany the Japanese armies in the field.

FOREIGNERS
Will Not be Permitted to Serve in the Military or Naval Operations in the East.

Tokio, Sunday, Feb. 14.—(Delayed in transmission).—Cora Takahira, the Japanese minister at Washington, has officially advised his government that he is receiving numerous offers of large contributions to the war fund from Americans, and requests instructions as to the policy of the government in the matter. It is considered probable that Japan will refuse to accept this proffered aid, while stating that the government is deeply gratified at this and other expressions of American sympathy.

The cabinet will consider the question and formally instruct Minister Takahira shortly. Many applications for permission to enroll in the Japanese army and navy are coming from abroad, and among them is the report

DEATH At Last Wins Its Victory

Senator Hanna Died 6:40 Monday Evening

HAVING BEEN UNCONSCIOUS FOR THIRTY HOURS.

TO BE BURIED AT CLEVELAND.

Funeral Services in Senate Chamber Wednesday—The Body to Lie in State at the Capitol

Washington, Feb. 16.—Doctor Carter said today that for 30 hours before his death Senator Hanna was unconscious. He simply slept away and died without a tremor of struggle.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Senator M. A. Hanna died at 6:40 o'clock Monday evening at the family apartments in the Arlington hotel, after an illness extending over nearly two months, filled with apparent recoveries, followed by relapses and finally drifting into triphoid fever, which in his weakened condition, he was unable to withstand. When the end came all the members of the Senator's family were in the room except Mrs. Hanna, the Senator's wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hanna. Mrs. Hanna left the room only a few minutes before.

The last sinking spell began at exactly 6:30 o'clock. Doctors Carter and Osler were then in attendance. They did not conceal the fact that life was about to end and all members of the family were sent for. Mrs. McCormick, one of the Senator's daughters, and Miss helps were present when the end came. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hanna were the first to arrive and they withdrew immediately to the chamber of the Senator's wife to summon her to the bedside. It was while they were absent the senator breathed his last. In the meantime Mr. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Parsons and H. H. Hanna entered the room. Mr. Dover stood in the door. There were no distressing incidents attending the last moments. It was a sinking spell which terminated in ten minutes. Just after his eyes closed in death, Mrs. Hanna was able to come into the room. She bore up well under the ordeal and is showing calmness and bravery.

For the last two days Senator Hanna had not been conscious except at intervals and then only to obey mechanically some instructions given to him by the physicians. Fourteen hours before the end was announced life had practically suspended. Five minutes before death came General Charles Dick came from the bedside with the announcement: "He is worse and has only a few minutes at most." That statement immediately preceded the last official bulletin, which was: "Senator Hanna sank gradually during the afternoon and died quietly at 6:40 o'clock."

The last intelligible words spoken by Senator Hanna were pathetic and his attempt to maintain to the last the humor which was characteristic of his life. Sunday morning he moved his head slightly and his eyes rolled a little to the right and then to the left. The nurse in close attendance anticipated his want and bending to the patient's ear asked if he was looking for his handkerchief.

"I think my wife has my handkerchief," the Senator whispered.

Members of the family, eager for any sign of consciousness or recognition which the Senator might display were told of the remark and they at once recognized it as one of his favorite rejoinders in good natured plugging in which Mr. and Mrs. Hanna often indulged. It was the Senator's custom when he missed any personal articles especially his handkerchief, to say: "I expect my wife has it."

Sculptor Dunbar took a death mask last evening. The cast will be perfect and strange as it may seem will show the face in its usual fullness. The Senator's face shows little emaciation and owing to the constant use of oxygen had taken on what appeared to be a coat of tan which gave it almost a lifelike appearance.

IN THE SENATE.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The Senate at noon was officially informed of the death of Senator Hanna by his colleague, Mr. Foraker. A committee of 25 was selected to arrange for the public funeral services at noon Wednesday in the Senate chamber and invitations were extended to the President, cabinet, judiciary and diplomatic corps and House of Representatives. The Senate then as a further mark of respect adjourned.

President Roosevelt will be unable to go to Ohio for the funeral, but he will be represented by Secretaries Taft, Cortelyou and Wilson of the cabinet. Among the distinguished guests who are expected to be present at the public exercises in the Senate tomorrow will be J. P. Morgan, Clement A. Griscom, Cornelius Bliss and John J. McCook. The President and cabinet will attend in a body.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The House on a resolution of Representative Grosvenor accepted the invitation of the Senate to attend the funeral services of Senator Hanna in the Senate chamber tomorrow and as a further mark of respect adjourned for the day shortly after noon today.

BURIAL AT CLEVELAND.

Cleveland, Feb. 16.—Arrangements for Senator Hanna's funeral in Cleveland are now in charge of his life long friend, Samuel Mather. The body will lie in state here Thursday and interment will take place Friday with funeral exercises from his late home on Lake avenue. Rev. W. A. Leonard, Episcopal bishop of Northern Ohio, will officiate.

THE FUNERAL SERVICES.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The Hanna funeral services will be held in the Senate chamber at Washington Wednesday noon.

Services will also be held at Cleveland Friday afternoon. The body will lie in state at the capitol.

BURIAL AT LAKE VIEW.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The Hanna funeral party will leave here at 6 p.m. Wednesday. Friends who will accompany the family are Secretary Dover, Congressman Dick, Andrew Squire, Governor Herrick and Dr. Carter. The body will lie in state at Central armory, where the Senator made his last speech. Funeral services will be conducted Friday at St. Paul's church, where Ruth Hanna was married a year or two ago. The interment will be in Lake View cemetery.

When Mr. Dover reached the hotel at 9 o'clock this morning he found a great bundle of telegrams awaiting him from all parts of the country, bearing the condolences of the senator's political and business friends. Every member of the senator's family also received many personal messages of sympathy.

MOURNING IN CLEVELAND.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 16.—This is a city of mourning today, with flags at half mast, draperies of black on buildings and a partial suspension of business out of respect to Hanna's memory. Orders for thousands of dollars worth of floral tributes are pouring into the local florists from all parts of the country.

HANNA'S FORTUNE.

COX Is Candidate for Senator

Cincinnati Boss Wants to Succeed Hanna

HAMILTON COUNTY DELEGATES ARE UNIT FOR HIM.

CUYAHOGA IS IN REBELLION.

Cleveland Members of Legislature Want Burton and Herrick to Become U. S. Senators

Columbus, O., Feb. 16.—(Bulletin)—The resolution adopted in the house and senate this afternoon providing for adjournment until 5 o'clock p. m. next Monday in memory of Senator Hanna, will cause the balloting for his successor to begin on Tuesday, March 1.

Columbus, O., Feb. 16.—(Bulletin)—The candidacy of Geo. B. Cox the Cincinnati boss, for United States Senator to succeed M. A. Hanna is a very serious matter today so far as Cox's followers are concerned. They are working openly and aggressively for him. Every member of the Hamilton county delegation is hustling and some of them apparently did not sleep last night. County leaders all over the state are being called up by long distance telephone and asked to pledge the vote of their representatives to Cox. The Cuyahoga delegates are in rebellion against this scheme. They want Congressman Burton of Cleveland for the short term and Governor M. T. Herrick for the long term.

Columbus, Feb. 16.—Those best entitled to speak say the contest for Hanna's seat lies between Herrick and Dick. Herrick will have Foraker behind him while Dick will have the support of the party organization. There is a question whether the legislature can take action before the official notification of Hanna's death is made by the Governor. If it can act without notification it will probably begin balloting next week. If the notification is legally necessary, Herrick will wait a decent time after Hanna's funeral and so the balloting may be deferred for a fortnight or more.

HANNA'S SUCCESSOR WILL BE NAMED BY THE OHIO LEGISLATURE.

Names of the Most Prominent Candidates—An Old Time Fight is Now Promised.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 16.—As the Ohio Legislature is now in session Hanna's successor will not be appointed by the governor, but at once elected for the terms expiring in March, 1905, and in March, 1911.

Less than seven years ago Hanna, who had never before held office, succeeded John Sherman as senator and had over seven years yet to serve, having just last month been re-elected.

During the past week there has been much comment about the senatorial successions. Among the names mentioned in this connection has been those of Governor Herrick, Wm. H. Taft and George B. Cox, of Cincinnati, J. H. Hoyt of Cleveland, General J. Warren Keifer of Springfield, General Asa W. Jones of Youngstown and Congressman Dick, Grosvenor and Burton. Senator Hanna lived in northeastern Ohio. It is claimed by some that geographical conditions are likely to add to the chances of Governor Herrick or Congressman Dick, who reside in lake districts.

While Senator Foraker resides in Cincinnati the friends of Taft and Cox cite the case of their Indiana neighbors, where Senators Fairbanks and (Continued on Page Two)

He was a man of wealth, but his investments are so widely scattered that it would be exceedingly difficult to estimate their total value. Some say his fortune will not exceed $2,000,000 and others are certain it is not less than $7,000,000, or even more. Friends say he has had his will made for a long time and that all his business affairs were in the best of condition.

TRIBUTE FROM FORAKER.

Washington, Feb. 15.—In the Senate today Mr. Foraker said in part: Senator Hanna is mourned by all his countrymen; by his political associates, not only because he was their great organizing leader, who repeatedly led them to victory but also and more especially because he had their affection and reigned in their hearts as a favorite; by his political opponents because they are chivalrous and generous enough to experience sorrow when a brave man falls; though he be of the opposition and because they recognize in him a bold and fearless foe who commanded their respect and excited their admiration. Here in the Senate, where he was so long a distinguished member, he was best known and most appreciated. It is unnecessary to speak in this presence of the great loss his death has occasioned to his party, his state and his nation. All know it better than any language can express it. Mr. President, this is not the time for an extended eulogy. Later I shall ask the Senate to set apart a day when all his colleagues can join with me in paying a fitting tribute to his life, character and public services.

M. A. HANNA

Short Sketch of the Ohio Senator Who Was the Leader of the Republican Party.

Marcus Alonzo Hanna, Republican, of Cleveland, was born in New Lisbon (now Lisbon), Columbiana county, O., September 24, 1837; removed with his father's family to Cleveland in 1852; was educated in the common schools of that city and the Western Reserve College, Hudson, Ohio; was engaged as an employee of the wholesale grocery house of Hanna, Garretson & Co., his father being senior member of the firm; his father died in 1862 and he represented that interest in the firm until 1867, when the business was closed up; then became a member of the firm of Rhodes & Co., engaged in the iron and coal business; at the expiration of ten years the title of the firm was changed to M. A. Hanna & Co., which still exists; has been identified with lake carrying business being interested in vessels on the lakes, and in the construction of such vessels; is president of the Union National bank of Cleveland; president of the Cleveland City Railway company; was director of the Union Pacific Railway company in 1885, by appointment of President Cleveland; was a delegate to the national Republican convention in 1884, 1888 and 1896; was elected chairman of the national Republican committee in 1886, and still holds that position; was appointed to the United States Senate by Governor Bushnell, March 5, 1897, to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of the John Sherman who resigned to accept the position of Secretary of State in President McKinley's cabinet; took his seat March 5, 1897, in January, 1898, he was elected for the short term ending March 4, 1899, and also for the succeeding full term. The result of the election in Ohio in 1902 was taken throughout the United States as a personal triumph for Hanna, and last month he was again elected to the United States Senate by the largest majority ever given a candidate for that honor in this state. His next term would have begun March 4, 1905, and would have expired in 1911.

No person in public life ever made greater or more meteoric progress toward political and personal popularity than had Senator Hanna during the past few years.

For months Mr. Hanna has been prominently mentioned for the presidency of the United States and there are many who believe that if his life had been spared that he would have been the Republican standard bearer in 1904. Mr. Hanna had repeatedly said "I am not a candidate," but so far as known he did not say "I will not be a candidate," and his friends in all parts of the Union were urging him to announce his candidacy for the Presidency. It is believed he could have secured the nomination for the asking. When the Senator's fatal illness began party lines were forgotten and the entire press of the country united in the hope that his life might be spared. Today the American nation bows in grief at his death.

POPULATION

OF NEARLY 23,000 INDICATED BY NEW DIRECTORY.

The New Volume Just Published Has Over Eleven Thousand Names of Newark People.

Copies of Brockhaven's directory of the City of Newark for the years 1904 and 1905 are being delivered to subscribers today. This is the fourth volume to be compiled by this firm and is a model of the typographical art.

The most important feature of the new directory is that it shows a large gain in population since the last directory was published in 1902. That directory contained 10,222 names, while the new issue contains 11,373, representing only those who have attained the age of 17 years. By using the usual multiple of 2, the population of Newark is estimated at 22,746.

In the prefatory remarks the publisher congratulates the people of Newark for the progressiveness of the business men, who have worked to make the city an industrial center.

The price of the directory is $3. Copies may be had by applying to the R. J. Brockhoven Directory company, 71 Hawkes avenue, Columbus, Ohio.

JUDGE

Overruled Demurrer to Indictment of Senator Burton.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 15.—Judge Adams in the U. S. district court this morning dismissed the demurrer to the indictment in the case of U. S. Senator J. Ralph Burton of Kansas and set the case for trial March 22. Senator Burton is charged with using his influence with the postoffice department in Washington in behalf of "get rich quick" concerns.

FAR EAST WAR.

Some of those anxious to fight for Japan have applied personally to the military authorities here. Among this number is included a Turkish officer. All of these applications have been politely but firmly refused. No foreigners will be allowed to participate in the military or naval operations of Japan except as spectators.

RUSSIANS

Acknowledged that They Were Caught Napping at the First Attack Upon Port Arthur.

Yinkow, Thursday, Feb. 11.—In consequence of the attack by the Japanese upon Port Arthur, Viceroy Alexieff has ordered all foreigners and civilians to leave that place. The families of the Russian officers in Manchuria are being sent to Russia, and this is causing great pressure upon the railway.

Dalny was the first place to be deserted. These noncombatants and civilians have abandoned all their property at Port Arthur and Dalny.

The Russians freely admit that their unpreparedness for the Japanese attack to have been a terrible blunder. Only half the ships were in line of battle and their officers were ashore celebrating the anniversary of Viceroy Alexieff's birth.

A stirring episode was the re-entrance into the harbor of the warships Cesarevitch and Novik after the fight. They came in under their own steam with bands playing and men cheering. Throughout the afternoon and night of February 9 wounded men were being removed to the shore.

BATTLE

At Chemulpo Described Briefly by Minister Allen, Who With Other Americans, Saw It

London, Feb. 16.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Seoul cables Tuesday that Minister Allen and some American army men witnessed the battle at Chemulpo. They afterward rowed around the Russian ships before their destruction.

Allen said: "I have never seen anything resembling the effect of shrapnel fire. The Variag was literally peppered in parts as if covered at close quarters with machine guns. Evidently the time fuse shrapnel was used with blinding and bewildering effect. The heavy artillery work emphasizes the fact you can fire a lot and get little result. The firing lasted five minutes. There were ten shots a minute. Only two heavy shots struck the hull. One shot exploded on the bridge, strikingly demonstrating the effect of shell fire. Everything was torn to tatters, resembling the debris of a machine shop. All the torpedo tubes of the Variag were filled after the fight, indicating that none had been fired. The Russians evidently knew that they were going to inevitable death, yet they fought until their ship was unmanageable. Their commanders did well to bring their ships into the harbor. Further fighting would have been madness."

In His Carriage.

Cannes, France, Feb. 15.—Grand Duke Michael Nicolaivitch, President of the Russian Council of State, who is ill, remained in his carriage yesterday before the open doors of the Orthodox church, where prayers were rendered during the service for the success of the Russian arms.

To Accompany the Japs.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Sixty Chicagoans, many of them veterans of the Spanish-American War, it is said, will leave this week for Japan. Five former members of the Illinois National Guard and regular and volunteer armies of the United States left last night for the Pacific Coast ports, where they will sail for the Orient.

WAR BULLETINS

Tien Tsin, China, Feb. 16.—Word reached here today that 2,000 Russian troops have arrived at New Chwang on the northern shore of the Gulf of Liao Tung.

Nagasaki, Japan, Feb. 16.—The Japanese have intercepted the British steamer Corio, bound from San Francisco for Port Arthur and have taken off the provisions purchased in America by the Russian government. The provisions consisted chiefly of canned goods.

London, Feb. 16.—The Deuter Telegram company reports that the assaults and robberies by Russian soldiers at New Chwang continue. The telegram adds that commanders Barton and Sawyer of the H. M. S. Esperanza and the U. S. gunboat Helena respectively, who were threatened by the Russian rowdies, have been assured by the authorities that full reparation for the indignity would be rendered.

San Francisco, Feb. 16.—M. Yabu, Japanese commissioner to the World's Fair has arrived from the Orient. M. Yabu predicts a great Japanese victory which will end the war. He says that Japan is now fighting the battle of the civilized world and expects no help from outside nations, only sympathy.

A large shipment of mess beef for the Russian government aggregating 1,000,000 pounds, is now here to be shipped on the steamer China next week.

Hamburg, Feb. 16.—A telegram received today announces that the German transport Batavia has removed 1,000 refugees from Vladivostok.

PASSENGERS

Learned of War Between Russians and Japanese by Wireless Messages While at Sea

New York, Feb. 16.—When the French liner Ja Bretagne arrived her passengers said that news that war had broken out between Japan and Russia was received aboard the steamship by wireless telegraph last Sunday and created a great deal of excitement. When the Bretagne docked this morning there was hardly a passenger who did not emphatically declare himself or herself in favor of Russia. When the word came that war had been declared and that Russia had met with severe reverses on the sea, the first and second class passengers, it was said, were loud in their expressions of sympathy, the feeling culminating in the singing of the Russian national hymn in the first cabin smoking room.

E. M. Gracey, one of the engineers of the Trans-Siberian railroad, said that although La Bretagne sailed before hostilities began Paris was in a fever of excitement over what was deemed the inevitable approach of war. In the theatres all mention of Russia was wildly cheered, while the crowds that surrounded the bulletin boards showed feverish sympathy for the ally of France.

"The change in London, where every one was in favor of Japan, was marked," said Mr. Gracey, "and it is a surprise to me to learn that American sentiment favors Japan. When I left here some time ago I thought that it was quite the contrary. Now that the Russian navy is crippled I assume that most of the Russian troops will be sent to the front over the Arans-Siberian railroad. The road is well protected all along the line, and is guarded by troops from one end to the other.

"Troops have been gathering along the railroad for the past 12 months, and even if an uprising should occur in China there are enough soldiers to keep the Chinamen from tearing up the tracks or interfering with traffic. French sympathy for Russia is intense, but, of course, I am unable to judge how far it would go."

A PREJUDICED VIEW

[Original.]

One night while traveling in the country I stopped at a farmhouse. I could see plainly that the farmer's wife was not a person to be lived with on amiable terms. After she had gone to bed the farmer and I sat together chatting about the dull winters in the country and the want of means of amusement, especially for the older people. I asked him if he liked to read.

"Waal, stranger," he said, "I reckon I do like to read if I kin git the books. For a long time I had nothin' but Shakespeare and the Bible. But last winter I got a historical book about them kings and queens of England. I was interested in one of 'em, a king called Henry VIII. That king was the only man I ever read or heered about that got ahead of six wimmen, all his wives, and didn't hev to kill more'n two of 'em neither."

"He was a monster," I protested. "Waal, now, stranger, I hain't so sartin about that. I don't know that he was quite excusable in the matter of his first wife, the Spanish woman; but, ye see, a man to git ahead of six wimmen has got to be mighty sharp. If I remember right, Henry had married his brother's w'lder, which is contrary to Scripture, and after livin' with her twenty years his conscience troubled him. It may be that he hadn't order married her in the first place, but it makes a good deal of difference whether a woman's young and amiable or old and spiteful. No, I think, under the circumstances, Henry was excusable for gittin' a tender conscience at the right time. Most people's consciences prick 'em at the wrong time. Henry's come in remarkable handy."

"You surely don't approve of his beheading Anne Boleyn, his second wife?" "Waal, now, I hain't so sartin about that neither. Henry's conscience was a very tender one and, as I said afore, always pricked him at a convenient time. When his first wife died, he wanted to show her every mark of respect and ordered his court to put on black. Anne Boleyn showed what kind of a woman she was when she ordered her wimmen to wear yaller. That made Henry mad. It was a convenient time to be mad. He was gittin' ready for his next wife. I reckon of he hadn't been king and wise as a serpent besides he'd never 'a' done what he did with the hull six on 'em."

"His third wife," I remarked, "Jane Seymour, was, I believe, the only one of the six who died a natural death while married to him. The next, Anne of Cleves, he divorced." "The Cleves woman was the only sensible one of the lot, the only one that come any ways near gittin' even with the king. When he said, 'You git!' she was very much pleased to go. 'This wounded the king sorely. A man don't like to be taken at his word by a woman, no matter how ornery she is.' "What do you think of the case of Katherine Howard?"

"Lemme see. What did she do? There's so many of 'em I forgot." "As a mere child she had been led into several indiscretions, including a sort of marriage with a low bred fellow who afterward turned pirate. As soon as she married the king all those who had led her astray—" "I remember now. They 'all turned office seekers, and the queen had to give 'em situations or they'd blow on her. Waal, now, I don't see how Henry could 'a' done any different. He wouldn't believe nothin' ag'in her till the hull thing was out. Katherine was one o' them middle-o-the-road wimmen. She might 'a' lived if she'd only given in. She wouldn't own up to her first marriage. The king couldn't git a nuthin' of his marriage on any other ground, so he had to chop her head off. She done that; Henry didn't. You see, stranger, there's a peculiarity about wimmen that it requires jist such a man as Henry to handle. They never give in. Katherine preferred to lose her head, and in doin' so she only showed a woman's natur'."

"There's another point in Henry's favor. He had two gals to leave the crown to and only one boy, an' he a weakling. Henry had a nateral insight into wimmen's onftness to run things, and, having a tender conscience, it grieved him to think o' leavin' his people to suffer under 'em. And it turned out he was right. His first darter was 'Bloody Mary,' whose name speaks for her. Then comes Elizabeth, who cut off the heads of the men she loved, and loved her cousin, Mary, queen o' Scots, so well that she cut her head off too.

"No, stranger; in summ'n' up the married life o' Henry VIII. I consider that he was a remarkable man and a very conscientious one. He done all he could to keep England from bein' pestered with wimmen rulers, and for that alone he order be honored by his grateful countrymen. Six of 'em! Jist think of it, stranger. Six of 'em! What would you and I do with such a lot, restricted by law as we air? Henry VIII. was a great and good man."

The farmer's arguments set me to thinking. Of late years we have had lives of Aaron Burr, setting forth his virtues, and of Benedict Arnold, showing how bad treatment and inexorable fate compelled him to betray his country. I confess the farmer's logic impressed me as favorably as many lives I have read of the world's prominent sinners.

The farmer having no more of King Henry's queens to discuss except the last, who survived her husband, and, as the farmer expressed it, "didn't count," he showed me to my room. I overheard a certain lecture he received from his wife, which somewhat diminished my respect for her opinion of women in general and the unbiased character of his excuses for the great British royal Bluebeard.

"Cheerfully--Gratefully--I Join My Voice With the Thousands Who Are Praising
Paine's Celery Compound

WAS CURED, AFTER YEARS OF STOMACH TROUBLE.

Milwaukee, Dec. 18, 1902.—"Through a friend I was advised to take Paine's Celery Compound for stomach trouble, with which I was afflicted for years. My food had lost taste. I had no appetite and my system was entirely out of order. There was a sudden change. I wondered for it was like a kind blessing falling on me. I surely performed its wonders in a marvelous way, and cheerfully and with gratitude I join my voice with the thousands who are praising Paine's Celery Compound. It has made me a well woman.—MRS. MARY KENNEY

Dyspepsia—the great destroyer of health and happiness—takes many forms. On content of temper, low spirits, despondency, nervousness, sick headache, heartburn, palpitation of the heart, distention of the stomach—all to them are a plague. Its dark influence throws its shadow on the happiness of many homes. The underlying cause of all dyspepsia is that the organs of digestion have not the NERVE STRENGTH to do their work properly. The true cure must be A CURE OF THE INNER NERVES, which govern the digestive organs and the entire human system. Paine's Celery Compound is curing thousands of dyspepsia every day in just this way, as sensible and scientific as it is marvelous. Sick headache, palpitation, dizziness and heartburn are usually relieved by a single dose of Paine's Celery Compound.

"IT IS WONDERFUL."

Her Weak Nerves Are Fed and Rebuilt by Paine's Celery Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 25, 1902.—"I was on the verge of nervous prostration and could not sleep for any length of time. When I did finally fall into a sleep it was only for a short time and I always awoke feeling refreshed. I had no appetite and I was rapidly losing weight. I heard about Paine's Celery Compound and after taking two bottles of it, I could sleep all night. My health is now fully restored. Paine's Celery Compound is a wonderful remedy, and I advise everybody suffering from headache or nervousness to use it.—MRS. LIZZIE R. HUNTER, 140 S. 9th St.

RIGHT FOOT

CRUSHED BETWEEN COUPLERS IN B & O. YARD.

Will Smith, Yard Brakeman, Met With Serious Accident Here Early Tuesday Morning.

Will Smith, a B. & O. yard brakeman met with a distressing accident Tuesday morning about 9.30 o'clock while at work in the yards. Smith was making a coupling and slipped, his right foot being caught and crushed to the ankle. Bowers & Bradley's ambulance took the injured man to the East Main street Sanitarium, where Doctors J. N. Stone, C. F. Legge and A. S. Barnes amputated the injured foot.

Mr. Smith whose home is on Lawrence street, is very popular, and his many friends deeply regret his unfortunate accident.

The young man, who was known as Dillon Smith, had just been married on Saturday night last, to Miss Rosa Miller.

Col. T. P. Moody of Chicago arrived here yesterday. Colonel Moody will make the auction sale for E. F. Collins & Company.

Miss Anna Duley.

The funeral of Miss Annie Duley, who died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Duley, 128 West Main street, on Saturday morning, which took place from the St. Francis de Sales church on Monday morning, was attended by a large number of mourning relatives and sympathizing friends.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Father Fitzpatrick who preached an eloquent and touching sermon commemorative of the "splendid qualities and good deeds of the deceased, while in life."

The deceased had been a sufferer with tuberculosis for over a year, and although everything that medical science and the tender care of parents and friends could do was done, she faded away like a flower blighted by an untimely frost.

The deceased was born in this city, where she had spent her entire life. She was 28 years old and was a bright and lovely young woman, whose many beautiful traits of character endeared her not only in the family circle, but to a large circle of friends. She had been given the benefit of a thorough education, and was of a literary turn of mind, having contributed to a number of magazines and papers. Besides her parents, one sister Frances, survives her. The members of the bereaved family, in their great sorrow, have the consolation of knowing that their loved one is now safe in the arms of Jesus.

Tickets for the A. P. C. excursion on February 17th can be secured at their office, Newark Savings Bank. Round trip 65 cents including admission to the ball.

Baltimore Company Fails.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 16.—Richard P. Post has been appointed a receiver for the Peabody Fire Insurance company of Baltimore. The company lost $700,000 by reason of the fire and it had assets of only $300,000. Application for a receiver was made by the Firemen's Insurance company of Baltimore. The application will be heard Feb. 28. Both companies last week re-insured their risks not affected by the fire in outside companies.

Church books were formerly chained to the desks, lest on account of their rarity they might be stolen.

President Roosevelt is hearing from his recent appointment of "Doc" Jamieson as naval officer at Chicago. Even the Tribune and Record-Herald, which have been staunch supporters of the President, are denouncing not only the appointment as an outrage on the good citizenship of Chicago, but also the peculiar methods followed by the President in making the appointment. Jamieson is one of the most notorious lobbyists in the West. The office to which he has been appointed is entirely useless, and was actually created for him at the behest of Senator Hopkins, who had been listed with Mr. Roosevelt's enemies. Jamieson is influential in the Republican machine of Illinois, which is under the joint management at present of "Billy" Lorimer and Senator Hopkins.

Treason continues to protrude its hideous head above the horizon of the Rooseveltian hopes. It was only last Friday that the Republican League Clubs of Ohio, in convention at Cleveland, adopted after a struggle resolutions indorsing the President for re-nomination. And now comes the Lincoln League of Indiana, declaring that the Hoosier State has abundant presidential material of its own to which it will cling like grim death. Is there, after all, to be a last ditch performance at Chicago? Strange things are happening in Hoosierdom. There has been trouble in Illinois. And nobody really knows what is going on in New York. Until some power is devised whereby it will be possible to get on the inside of the head of the Hon. Thomas C. Platt and watch the operations of that crafty mental machine it cannot be told what is liable to happen in the Empire State. And there's Nebraska. Ex-Senator Thurston, of that State, recently declared in a little after-dinner speech at Washington that "Roosevelt was the man everybody wanted and nobody was for."

PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION

The Presidential succession is fixed by chapter 4 of the acts of the 49th Congress. In case of death or inability of both President and Vice President, the Secretary of State would become President and then the cabinet officers in the following order: Secretary of War, Attorney General, Postmaster General, Secretary of the Navy, Secretary of the Interior. The acting President must convene Congress upon taking his oath of office, in extraordinary session, if not in session at the time. All constitutional limitations apply to any member of the cabinet in line of succession.

A BIG CAMPAIGN FUND

(Pittsburg Post.)
General Ainsworth, chief of the record and pension office of the war Department, is one of the most accurate statisticians in that branch of the public service, and it deals largely in figures. His estimate of the cost of the $12-a-month service pension from 1864 to the probable extinction of the class about the year 1940, or eighty years after the commencement of the civil war, is $775,477,567. An important question is raised as to this service pension, whether the money shall come from the regular revenues of the government from tariff and internal taxation, which would inevitably embarrass the Government, or be provided for by a direct tax on the people for pension purposes.

This seems to us the best plan, as it will bring home directly to the people the extent of their pension obligations, and will thus force as it were, a better understanding of the pension question. A direct tax is constitutional, for it is only necessary that such a tax, when levied by the Federal Government, shall be paid in proportion to the population of the States. The New York Sun to raise this money urges that the best form of direct tax would be a capitation or poll tax. Then every citizen for the next thirty or forty years would know exactly how much he is contributing toward the greatest of all campaign funds. There is no doubt the service pension will answer the purposes of a campaign fund. It is so intended by the politicians who champion it. The people cannot be better employed than by a study of the increasing expenditures of the Government. Our total war budget, under the philanthropic Roosevelt, including pensions and army and navy expenditures, is estimated at $360,000,000, or over $21 for each American family. Yet the three great European powers, England, Germany and Russia, spend far less upon their army service than we will squander upon pensions, if the profligate policy of the politicians prevails. Let it be provided for by direct tax, and the people will take the subject into careful consideration and scrutiny.

JUDGE VOORHEES.

(Mansfield Shield, Feb. 8.)
This term of Circuit court closed last week after a session of four weeks. The large docket in this county was almost entirely disposed of to the mutual satisfaction of the court and to the lawyers and the litigants. Judge R. M. Voorhees is now the presiding judge. His able and kindly manner on the bench, has won for him a high place in the esteem of lawyers and litigants in the entire circuit. His first term will expire February, 1905. It is understood that he will be a candidate for a second term to succeed himself. There seems to be no opposition to his re-nomination, from any quarter, and that he will be re-nominated by acclamation, as he deserves to be, at the coming judicial convention. Judge Voorhees has served with distinction for the past five years. He holds a commanding place among the judges of the state, as his many able and learned opinions attest.

He was an eminent practitioner, a veteran in the court room before he was called to the bench. He is honest, capable, industrious and has won for himself the proud distinction of being universally admired and respected because of his splendid qualities that make him ever a courteous, genial companion as well as a just and upright judge. Richland county most cordially endorses his re-nomination.

"THE BARGAIN HUNTERS"

The Pittsburg Dispatch Makes a Great Hit With a Novel Contest.

Much interest was excited in Pittsburg by the appearance of advertising in all the Pittsburg papers referring to "The Bargain Hunters." No person knew just what was meant; many thought it was a new book, but the mystery was dispelled by the publication of a large advertisement in The Pittsburg Dispatch and a most liberal display on the bill-boards of the city, as well as in the various stores interested, which announced that "The Bargain Hunters" was a novel contest which The Dispatch had devised to test the skill of the reader as a shopper, make him conversant with the stores where he could save money and pay him well while amusing him. Prizes of $40 each week are offered and on the whole the contest is destined to be one of the most interesting ever given by a newspaper. WHITE HOUSE STAFF

ARMY AND NAVY OFFICERS WHO ARE AIDS TO THE PRESIDENT.

Duties of Colonel Symons, Head of the Corps—Major McCawley's Claim to Distinction—Lieutenant Fortescue, Rough Rider.

Major McCawley, who stirred up somewhat of a rumpus by presenting the diplomatic corps in advance of the supreme court judges at the recent judiciary reception at the White House, is one of the personal staff which President Roosevelt has selected from the army and navy to attend him upon all state functions. These aids are headed by Colonel Thomas W. Symons, superintendent of public buildings and grounds.

The duties of the military aids on festival occasions are largely ornamental. When a reception is held, the staff, arrayed in full dress uniform, meets the president at the head of the stairway, escorts him to the blue room and ranges itself in the foreground. State dinners begin in much the same manner.

Colonel Symons is master of ceremonies at all state and social functions at the White House. At all formal receptions he stands at the president's left hand and introduces each visitor by name to the chief executive. He also prepares the invitation lists and makes all the arrangements for official receptions and dinners.

Colonel Symons is a native of New York, but was appointed to the Military academy from Michigan. He graduated at the head of his class in 1874 and entered the engineer corps. He is fifty-four years of age.

Major Charles L. McCawley, who displeased the judges, was appointed from a clerkship in June, 1897, to a captaincy in the United States marine corps, in which branch of the service he was at one time the ranking officer. He was detailed for social duty at the White House during President McKinley's first term and is an intimate friend of President Roosevelt and of the president's family. He is one of the best dancers at the capital and frequently dances with Miss Alice Roosevelt. During the Spanish war he saw service in Cuba and later was in the Philippines.

Of the other officers of the president's staff two belong to the navy, Lieutenants Bulmer and Sellers, and four to the army. Roscoe C. Bulmer and David B. Sellers have been stationed at Washington for about a year. Of the four young army officers Captain Joseph W. Glidden of the Twenty-fifth Infantry and Lieutenant Granville R. Fortescue of the Tenth cavalry entered the army from civil life at the breaking out of the Spanish war. The other two, Lieutenant Clarence O. Spaulding, a West Point man, both of whom were graduated three years ago near the head of their class and selected the engineers—the corps d'elite of the army.

Lieutenant Fortescue is a New York man and one of the rough riders of 1898. He has a certificate of merit received for distinguished services at the battle of San Juan. He is acting as assistant to the superintendent of public buildings and grounds.

All of these officers are selected by the president for their duties at the White House and are detailed by the secretaries of war and navy.

SOLDIERS ON SNOWSHOES.

A Canadian Regiment's Successful March Through the Drifts.

Regimental night tramps on snowshoes have been started by the Forty-third (Duke of Cornwall's Own) rifles and will be held fortnightly during the winter, says a dispatch from Ottawa. The first tramp was to the royal log shanty in the heart of the timber between Government House and Rockcliffe, where the hungry soldiers had a regular, appetizing lumber shanty meal. Lord Dunsford, major general commanding the Canadian militia, expressed his admiration of their soldier-like appearance and told them the new system of drill would be found particularly well adapted for winter work on snowshoes. The night was sharp and clear and the snow deep and at places in heavy drifts beyond the Rideau river along the roads leading into the timber, but the men made good time and did their work well.

Every efficient man in the regiment will be thoroughly fitted for winter campaigning on snowshoes under active service conditions. Other regiments throughout Canada are expected to take up winter work along the same lines.

JUDGE GEORGE GRAY.

Judge George Gray, of Delaware, one of the candidates for the Democratic nomination for president whose friends are very persistent in pushing his name, is admitted that Gray's best chance of securing the nomination will be found in case none of the more conspicuous candidates can secure enough votes to nominate, and turn to the Delaware man as a compromise candidate. His work on the arbitration board which settled the great coal strike has made him strong with workmen, and it is said that although he is a Democrat President Roosevelt will offer him the next vacancy in the United States Supreme court.

HOW SUFFERERS FROM LUNG TROUBLE FIGHT THE DISEASE.

Searchers For Health Defy Icy Blasts of Winter—Wonders Wrought by Outdoor Life and an Abundance of Nourishing Food.

Thus far man has been unable to discover a specific for the cure of the "great white plague," consumption, though in many parts of Europe and the United States the fresh air treatment has met with considerable success.

The open air method of treating tuberculosis was first practiced by Dr. Brehmer in Silesia, Germany, as early as 1859. Since then the idea has spread until now it is employed at sanitariums in various parts of the world.

Dr. E. L. Trudeau of Saranac, N. Y., was one of the first Americans to test the open air treatment. He was himself suffering from tuberculosis, and when he visited the Adirondacks in 1873 was in a critical condition. He spent one winter in the open air and was so much improved that he persisted until he was entirely cured. In 1884 he opened a sanitarium near the scene of his own cure, and this was the first attempt in America to imitate on a large scale the efforts of Dr. Brehmer in Silesia.

Outdoor life, plenty of nourishing food and rest, are what the physicians at the sanitariums prescribe, and that is about all there is to the treatment. The first thing they impress on a patient is the importance of staying outdoors continually during the day, whether it be stormy or pleasant, and of sleeping in rooms with the windows sufficiently open to permit a perfect circulation of fresh air. Staying out of doors, especially sitting for eight or ten hours on an open veranda, at first seems a hardship to the new patient, but he soon becomes accustomed to it, and after a few weeks he will complain if compelled to remain indoors or sleep in a room with closed windows.

Patients who are strong enough to take exercise may do so, but absolute rest is enforced on those whose condition will not warrant exertion. Discipline at the sanitariums is rigidly enforced, expulsion being the penalty for willful violations of the rules.

For an hour each morning and evening the sleeping rooms are closed and heated that dressing and undressing may be performed in an atmosphere of comparative warmth. After breakfast blankets are spread on steamer chairs on verandas or in shelter sheds which are provided at some of the sanitariums. Here the patients spend the morning hours until the midday dinner is served. Sufferers from tuberculosis are studied to repletion with good, wholesome food, this being an important part of the cure.

Recently the custom of sleeping outdoors has been adopted at several sanitariums with excellent results. The first recorded case was that of a patient in the Adirondacks. About two years ago a man experienced a setback. He had a cot on the veranda which he occupied during the day, and he began to sleep on this at night. He at once began to improve, and today he is at work.

The physicians at this institution do not advise patients to sleep out. They are left entirely free to follow their own inclination in the matter, but of more than a hundred now at the institution in question over half sleep out of doors, notwithstanding that during the present winter the mercury has frequently gone far below zero.

The cottages are so arranged that each patient's bedroom opens directly on a covered veranda, upon which the bed is pushed. Each bed is generously furnished with blankets, and experience shows that one can sleep in the open air with much more comfort than in a room with the windows open. People sleeping out and living out doors continually rarely take cold. The fresh air treatment has cured many, and it is not even necessary to go to a sanitarium to get it. Many sufferers from the disease have improved their condition and in some instances been entirely cured by sleeping with their windows open in all weathers and living in the open air by day.

AMUSEMENTS.

The best performance ever given by a repertoire company at the Auditorium, was that of the opening of a week's engagement by the King Dramatic company, Monday night, when the great play "Du Barry" was presented to a large audience.

A glance over the names on the program showed immediately that the characters were identical with those of the Belasco drama, and by many it was considered little short of presumption that a company playing at popular prices should attempt to give a performance of a play in which the best efforts of one of America's greatest actresses, Mrs. Leslie Carter, have been enlisted this season with such marked success. But any disposition to be captious or hypercritical was soon dispelled as the thread of the drama was taken up by the members of the company. The play had been toned down, but not emasculated, and the difficult role of Du Barry was given an interpretation by Birdie De Vault that was more than creditable, it was a distinct and intrinsic success.

Mrs. De Vault is not Mrs. Leslie Carter as an actress, but she is a pre-eminent success in Mrs. Carter's most famous role. Her work Monday night was that of a star and she scored an immediate triumph.

The supporting company was far an away above the average, which gave a dramatic equilibrium to the entire production.

Mr. Charles Barringer as Richelieu, David Conger as King Louis, Anamal Blossom as the Duchess de Chateaufort were entirely satisfactory and in fact gave interpretations of the respective characters that were on a par with the support of any of the leading stars.

Du Barry is not the only pretentious piece that will be given a presentation during the week, as there will be "Carmen," "Faust," "A Ward of France," and others, each one adequately staged and correctly costumed.

Tonight will be given a comedy drama, "Under the Polar Star."

LAUGHS AND CHARACTER.

French Specialist Tells How the Former Betray the Latter.

A wise specialist in Paris on the throat and voice has discovered that every man unconsciously betrays his character when he laughs, says the Paris correspondent of the New York World.

So does every woman. So to study your sweetheart's silvery cackling is to probe the recesses of her mind. Thus many unhappy marriages can be avoided. This learned specialist announces in a French review that each person laughs in one of the vowel sounds.

The man or woman who laughs in "A," who emits a hearty "Ha-ha," is frank, loyal and loves noise and movement.

Those who laugh in "E" (French I) are phlegmatic, some of them even melancholic. Their forced "He-he!" comes from no sense of forgiveness nor is it impelled by amusement.

The timid, the irresolute, the naive and the pliable laugh in "I" (English E). So do children, says this student of laughs, and most Americans will agree that children and foolish young women giggle in "E."

The laugh in "O" indicates on the one side generosity and good companionship, on the other boldness or brutality. Never a villain in a melodrama but who mocked his victim with a "Ho-ho!"

Those who laugh in "U" are misanthropes, and the hateful noise they utter when their grin should warn their fellow-creatures against them.

The specialist has not yet catalogued the character of the persons who laugh in "Y."

KOREAN VIEW OF THE WAR.

Why the Hermit Kingdom Hopes For Russia's Success.

The New York Herald's Paris correspondent recently published the following:

I had the good fortune to have a long conversation with a Korean resident in Paris, a friend of the emperor and long a prominent figure in court life at Seoul. According to this gentleman, Korea at the present moment places the greatest hopes of future peace and prosperity and even of the national integrity on the complete success of Russia in a conflict with Japan.

"Would it be unnatural, then," said my informant, "that Russia should receive every possible aid from the Korean government and people? To the untrained this may seem at first sight to be a negligible quantity, but I assure you it is not. You will see that it is not."

"The Korean people regard the Japanese as their natural enemies, and should a battle be fought, say in the Yalu district, and the Japanese attempt to retreat back through Korea I fear it will go very bad for them, very bad indeed."

"Massacre?" I asked. "Who knows? All my people want is a leader. They are easily led and die with perfect readiness when ordered. At such a time as this it is significant for our leaders to place trust in Russia."

"How so?" I asked. "Russia will insure perpetual independence and integrity of our country. Japan never would, and with us independence is very dear. We would go to any extremes to maintain it."

DANGER IN HANDSHAKES.

French Chemist Claims the Hand Sows Many Seeds of Disease.

The French journals have recently given publicity to a scientific discovery which may have a considerable influence upon one of the most ordinary usages of social intercourse, says the London Graphic. One M. Crouzel, a chemist of Bordeaux, has discovered that the human hand is largely occupied in sowing the seeds of all sorts of diseases. The hand, he says, is not only the most dirty, but the most dangerous, portion of our anatomy. It contains on the average $3,450,000 bacteria; hence, he argues, people should never shake hands. We know already that it is dangerous to kiss, but now, as a French paper puts it, science is no less hostile to friendship than to love. All men, however, are not equal in this matter.

You must not shake hands with a physician, surgeon, hairdresser or butcher, especially a pork butcher. Workers in metals are, however, much less dangerous, because the minute metallic particles form, under the influence of the hand's warmth, an antiseptic oxide. It is possible, M. Crouzel says, to protect yourself, if you must shake hands, by using soap and a nail brush for five minutes, plunging your hand in a warm alkaline solution, rinsing it with sterilized water, drying it on a sterilized towel and finally washing it again in a solution of alcohol and ether.

"Jap Fiz," Cocktail, Union Made.

Barkeepers' union, No. 1, of New York announced recently the invention of a new cocktail, to be known as the "Jap fiz," says the New York Telegraph. The ingredients are, Half a lemon, one spoonful of sugar, a half finger each of rye whiskey and port wine and the white of an egg. The mixture is to be strained and served with solters and a slice of pineapple.

Wanted By Properly Spanked.

A Kansas school teacher based the story of a pupil a few days ago, says the Muscatine (Kan.) Record. The boy told his mother, and the next day the teacher told the father, and now the father has secured a proper place for the punishment of a boy, and it is not his son. I will thank you to use it liberally.

REBUILDING BALTIMORE

A City Beautiful to Rise From the Ruins.

NEW SERIES OF STREETS PROPOSED

Ex-Governor Brown Heads a Movement to Take Advantage of the Destruction Wrought by the Fire and Beautify Baltimore's Business Districts—Lower Buildings Suggested.

With characteristic American energy Baltimore has awakened to the situation in which it finds itself and is taking measures not only for straightening out the intricate tangle of business interests created by the fire, but to rise above the disaster and make it, if possible, the stepping stone to improvements, which, while long recognized as necessary, would have forever remained impossible had it not been for the recent conflagration, says a staff correspondent of the Philadelphia Press.

In brief, if measures which are already well under way are at all successful, there will rise from the burned district in Baltimore a new city, and just as Rome was improved after its historic conflagration and the London of Charles II. rose from its ashes to future betterment so on the ruins in Baltimore there will eventually rise a new Baltimore.

Ex-Governor Frank Brown is at the head of this large but thoroughly businesslike scheme.

The former governor said: "I know this fire is considered terrible, and it is terrible, but at the same time it's a fact, and since it's a fact we've got to make the best of it. Well, as the best of it I believe we can find a way to make this horrible catastrophe Baltimore's golden opportunity."

"With the support of the assembly and the people, and with the backing of the business interests, I believe that we can rebuild the burned area along thoroughly modern lines that will make it better not only to the eye and to the health, but to the pocketbook of the city than it ever was before. That's what I believe we can do—modernize the business section, replace the old crooked streets, such as Light street, with thoroughly up to date thoroughfares, broad and open and lined with handsome and really fireproof buildings."

Ex-Governor Brown's plan is the laying out of a whole new series of streets in the fire area, nearly as radical as that which under the second empire did so much for the permanent improvement and beautifying of Paris.

It has not, of course, as yet become definite as to details, but it is more definite as to purpose, and its advocates are hourly increasing among Baltimore's public men.

William Harrison Hodges, senior partner of the firm of Hodges & Leach, one of the best known architects in Baltimore, is among its warmest supporters and adds that he is sure that such other fellow craftsmen as Douglas H. Thomas, Jr., Ghequiere & May and Thomas C. Kennedy will be of his own mind in the matter. He says:

"I have seen the results of such drastic methods in Paris. I have been in Rome during its process of modernization, and I was in Jacksonville when that city was rebuilt after its disastrous fire, so that I think I'm qualified to express an opinion on such an occasion as this, and my opinion unqualifiedly is that the plan is as excellent as it is sweeping."

"Of course the chief difficulty just at present is that we don't at all know what is left in the burned district and what buildings still standing are qualified to remain so. But that would all come in time."

"I don't believe this fire will shake people's faith in the modern fireproof building, but I do believe that it will open people's eyes to the usefulness of such devices as automatic sprinklers—that did good service here—and to what I've always contended—that no building is fireproof that has any wood in its construction."

"Last of all, I suggest lower buildings. I think we've been putting up our buildings too high and that engineers have been sweating the beams or getting them too tight. But, however that may be, I know that if I had properly done in that district I'd be glad to give up a part of it for the sake of wider streets."

In this, it may be added in conclusion, others who to own some of the property agree with Mr. Hodges.

A Radium Punch.

A Philadelphia physician has a new sensation for the plate, radium punch. At a dinner served to a dozen doctors at the residence of the physician, the beverage was served for the first time, following a demonstration of the therapeutic use of a newly discovered element by Dr. Gustav Gehring, the punch, infused with radium, was served by dipping a tube in specially prepared water. It is beneficial in cases of pulmonary tuberculosis.

FUR NOVELTIES.

Some Striking Ones Despite Lateness of the Season.

"Is the season for novelties in furs over?" I recently asked a salesman in one of the largest fur houses in the country.

"Not by any means, ma'am," was the reply. "The artists are getting out new designs every hour, and the season will last, especially for neck pieces, way into April, possibly to May. If the weather stays cold, as it sometimes does, you know."

I did, know, and so took particular notes on the fur question. A stole cape collar is of pure ermine, cut so that it reaches up high in the back of the neck and rounds off in front. The stole ends have rich chenille tassels of pale gray with black dots. The ends are pointed, with a tassel. The particular effect of this is found in the arrangement of the tails of the ermine. Ermine tails are slim and white next the body with jet black tips. These tails are so placed that they form regular set figures on the pure white, and the effect is very pleasing. Two tassels are put on the front near the neck, fastening invisibly.

A wide stole shape has the upper portion of ermine and the rest of fine sable, the ends being pointed, but not otherwise ornamented. Another one has the cape high in the back of the neck, but open in front, and the tabs are rounded. There is an inset of ermine across the shoulders, and the rounded portion of the tabs is of ermine. The muff to carry with this is a rich affair, with the sable cut in notches on the upper part and the ermine below. There are fancy brooches at the top of the muff.

Chinchilla is used for many muffs and stole and other shaped collars. Canning little four-in-hand collars made of this fur and also of seal and of lamb are worn by the smart set and are undeniably fetching. Deep stole collars of chinchilla sometimes have big balls covered with fur at the ends, while others are quite untrimmed. It is like painting the lily and burrowing the sunbeams to add anything to this exceedingly pretty fur. Most coats and jackets have storm collars and wide revers of some deeper fur, for it is only the close furs that are used to make the coats. But few of the neck pieces have storm collars at all. I did see one jet black fur cape which came to a point in front, and this had a flat ermine collar scalloped and with short tabs over it, and this was so arranged that the ermine portion could be raised to form such protection as desired. Many of these capes narrow in at the waist and spread widely above and below.

There are many less exclusive and less expensive small furs. They are almost a necessity to everyday requirements. The neat and pretty walking suits for this season of the year are made of cloth, cheviot, zibeline and a real of other woollens, besides the firm favorite, velveta. They need but the presence of a small fur neck piece to look quite warm and wintry enough even to go skating in.

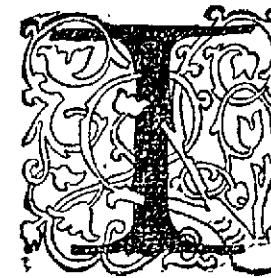

A rich and heavy granite suiting costume in the very dark brown so liked just now has the skirt trimmed richly with black hercules braid and the short box coat done in the same way. Braid is now considered the best of all dress trimmings. It is made in so many styles and materials that it is adapted to everything from battle to velvet. Even some fur garments are trimmed with it.

So this suit is trimmed with the braid in the manner shown in the illustration, and a handsome suit it makes. With it a small flat fur piece is worn. It may be of any of the furs with a tinge of brown, but the handsomest for this purpose is the Alaska sable, which seems to lend itself to every color and makes with none. A small round muff is made to match this, and if you want to be right in the season you should get your smartest relative to sit on your back all day. The flat ones are the best, but not so large as those of the days of 1890, after which we seem now to be casting wistful eyes so far as fashion is concerned.

When one purchases a fur cape of stole or muff at any reputable fur house a pair of fur to match is given with the garments so that it may be added to the hat and thus carry off the general color scheme.

Fur is a very valued and an elegant addition to any winter hat. It is up to date and simply in the shape of a band. I heard that some skins are now used in place of moles, which are becoming very scarce. HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

A LITTLE TALK TO TIRED PEOPLE

If you live a confined life; if you are kept indoors and can get no outdoor work and exercise;—if you experience symptoms of general weakness, forgetfulness, lassitude, sleeplessness, irritability, lack of concentration, loss of appetite, pain in small of the back—there is no question about it, you have some form of catarrh—some inflammation of the mucous membrane.

Read what this well-known man, Alderman Peter A. Wendling, member of the City Council from the 29th Ward of the City of Chicago, says about it:

"Last spring, after I had completed my canvass for election to the City Council, I felt worn out and out of sorts. I could not determine any particular seat of my ailment. I was able to attend to my duties, but my great effort distressed me and I lost considerably in weight. As I had enjoyed uniformly good health I was not greatly alarmed and felt that my trouble would soon wear itself out."

"Finally I consulted a physician and his diagnosis was that I was suffering from incipient intestinal catarrh. He advised me to take a course of treatment at one of the celebrated medicinal springs. I was inclined to take his advice but found it difficult to get away from my public and private business. While I was hesitating what to do, one of my political friends advised me to try Mucu-Tone. He told me that it had cured his wife and he said, 'Alderman, it will cure you.'"

"Well, he was right. I think I took four or five bottles during the course of a month, with the result that I was entirely free from pain and had recovered my normal energy and buoyancy. I got back my old weight, and when any of my friends commented on my improved appearance I told them it was all due to Mucu-Tone."

Peter A. Wendling
Alderman 29th Ward, Chicago.

Alderman Wendling is one of the most popular members of the Chicago City Council. His worth as a man and a legislator is best evidenced by the fact that he is the first republican in a decade to be elected from the rock-ribbed, democratic stronghold, the famous Stock Yards district of Chicago. Certainly such evidence as his must convince even the most skeptical.

Rexall Mucu-Tone cures all catarrhal conditions by relieving the congestion of the mucous membranes. It works through the blood, thus reaching the affected membranes wherever they may be located, driving out the poisons and allaying the inflammation. In addition to this it is a powerful nutritive tonic which revitalizes the blood, quiets the strained nerves and builds up the body.

Give Mucu-Tone a trial. If you don't feel better after the first few doses you can stop taking it and we will refund your money.

ARMOUR OF CHICAGO.

Man Who Is Said to Have Secured Control of the Wheat Market. Jonathan Ogden Armour, head of Armour & Co.'s great packing and grain house in Chicago, is the young man who is said to have obtained control of such an enormous quantity of Wheat as to practically control the market. He is the only surviving son of the late Philip D. Armour and possesses a fortune estimated to be near the $20,000,000 mark.

Mr. Armour is a hard worker, attends strictly to business and cares little for society. He has made himself familiar with every department of the great institution which he controls, and, although still a young man, only forty-one, Mr. Armour occupies a commanding position in the business world. His employees, the world over number 20,000, and his operations approximate $200,000,000 a year.

THE RAILWAYS

PENNSY WILL ESTABLISH NEW MANSFIELD YARDS

Right of Way Captured—Lumbermen Want Rates Reduced—Local and General News

The Pennsylvania will establish extensive classification yards near Mansfield, O. The division headquarters and shops, it is said, will be removed from Crestline to Mansfield. The present yard will be connected by tracks with the new yard. Work will be commenced on the Mansfield yard early in the spring. The new yard, it is said, will have a capacity for 12,000 cars.

The Conway yards, which are the largest gravity yards west of the Allegheny mountains, have cost so far about $1,000,000, but are not yet completed.

Captured Right of Way.

Riverside, Cal., Feb. 16.—The San Pedro railroad has affected an entrance into Riverside by capturing a section of the right of way which has been in dispute. There are a number of injunctions in force and a long legal battle had been promised. The railroad now has possession and what course the objectors will take is problematical.

Wants Rates Reduced.

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 16.—Wholesale and retail lumbermen of the west hold a meeting with Winnipeg men to devise means to keep out American lumber from the Canadian northwest. They told the Canadian Pacific railway, which carries all the lumber of western Canada that their prices would be reduced a dollar per thousand feet if the road would reduce its freight charges from 40 cents a hundred pounds on lumber to 38 cents.

By this means American lumber would be shut out. It is believed the Canadian Pacific will make the concessions.

"Pennsy" R. R. Exhibit

The Pennsylvania railroad will have an exhibit at the St. Louis World's Fair which will cover 33,000 square feet in transportation building. Announcement has just been made that $100,000 has been appropriated for the purpose. The exhibit will be in charge of J. J. Turner, third vice president of the Pennsylvania lines. Part of the exhibit will be a display of locomotive types. A compound De Glehn engine is being imported for that purpose. Other exhibits will be models of the tunnels under the North river, Manhattan island and the East river, the New York terminal station, the improvements at West Philadelphia and maps and photographs. A model postal car will also be exhibited in the United States government building.

Examined Thirteen Men.

Dr. Sykes, formerly of Newark, now the B. & O. medical examiner at Zanesville, examined thirteen foreigners in one day for service on the section in the vicinity of Cambridge. They were the first foreign laborers examined in the office of the B. & O. medical examiner in Zanesville.

Old Employee Retired.

One of the oldest employees of the Pennsylvania railroad, Joseph Parker has just been retired to the pension roll from his position as road foreman of the Tyrone division. He has been in active service continually since May, 1851, when as a mere boy he began firing for his father on the old Portage road. His retirement dates from January 15, 1903.

Celebrated Anniversary.

The Pittsburg and Lake Erie road celebrated its 25th anniversary Wednesday, February 16. The first time table issued was made of pencil and was used for weeks before the printed one was issued. It bears the names of W. C. Quincy, general manager, and Robert W. Jones, supervisor of transportation. Mr. Quincy was well known in Newark, having at one time been superintendent of the Trans-Ohio division of the B. & O. with headquarters in Newark.

Big Engines from the West.

The Western railroads continue to secure the largest and heaviest engines that the builders will turn out. Recently the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake has secured a number of Atlantic type engines, which are used in passenger service, and have given a record of 80 miles an hour on the tracks of the company.

Local Railway Notes.

Conductor Bell has been given a short leave of absence. Brakemen Shambaugh, Jenkins, Kehoe, Magill and Scanlon, after a short leave of absence, have been marked up for service.

Brakeman H. D. Whiteford is unable to work on account of sickness.

Conductor Bell has been granted a leave of absence for a few days.

Conductor Gallagher who has been off duty for a few days, has returned to work.

C. Brown has been marked up as extra brakeman on the Shawnee division. Michael Kerrigan a molder employed at the B. & O. shops, has one of the most intelligent dogs in the city. Promptly at 4:45 o'clock every evening the dog leaves his home and makes a bee line for the shops, and accompanies his master home. The animal is a great favorite among the railroad boys, and is much thought of.

MYSTERY

Of the Woman in Black at the Chicago Auto Show Solved by the Filing of a Suit.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Mamie Modenwald, a beautiful young society girl of Sheridan Park, who started upon an operatic career, and then dropped her chosen profession because of love of a man, has brought suit for $50,000, charging breach of promise to marry against Theodore Kovekordes, record-keeper of Vanderburgh county, Indiana, horseman and automobile enthusiast. Kovekordes according to the girl, promised to marry her, caused her to abandon her life plans, and then jilted her.

By the filing of the papers in the Superior court the mystery of a "woman in black" at the automobile show at the Coliseum has been solved. After the woman had haunted the exposition for nearly a week at the head of a group of detectives, who shadowed every automobile party that whirled away from the show after midnight the vigil came to a close just before midnight Saturday when Kovekordes was served with legal papers.

Kovekordes was in a Pullman sleeper as the train was pulling out for Evansville, Ind., his home. Not until after a struggle were the officers enabled to get service. Detectives Luke Collier and Wm. W. Howe detained the man while Deputy Sheriff Michael F. Maher read the papers. Michael Modenwald, the plaintiff, and Attorney Henry Huttman of Huttman, Butlers & Carr, made up the remainder of the pursuing force.

Miss Modenwald, who is known on the vaudeville stage as May Melbane charges that after becoming engaged to Kovekordes at the latter's home last July, and after publishing the engagement there and at Cincinnati, where she played, Kovekordes was called to Detroit and other cities where racing meetings were in progress. Under the excitement of the track his love cooled, she asserts, hence the suit. Kovekordes, who is well known in Chicago, is 27 years old and a widower.

The story as told by the girl's friends is one of blind love and a heartless betrayal.

THE DEFENSE

SCORES IN THE POSTAL TRIAL AT WASHINGTON.

Court Admits Prayer Defining Reasonable Doubt—The Jury Instructed in the Machen Trial.

Washington, Feb. 16.—When the postoffice conspiracy trial was resumed the prosecution offered two additional prayers, one referring to the statements made by some of the defendants to postoffice inspectors, and the other defining a reasonable doubt.

Justice Pritchard disposed of them by announcing that he would charge the jury that these statements should not have any effect on the defendants (except on the one making them), and the jury should not conjure imaginary doubts to avoid performance of a disagreeable duty. The verdict must be "not guilty" for all the defendants, if the facts and circumstances and their acts can be accounted for by any reasonable theory consistent with the presumption of innocence or if the alleged conspiracy is not established as having been entered into with intent to defraud the United States.

Most of the prayers of the defense were granted by the court. What is deemed the most important of them instructs the jury that if they believe from the evidence that Lorenz owed Machen $25,000 Lorenz had a perfect right to pay Machen that sum in such manner and methods as he chose.

Machen, the court will add, had the right to receive and accept payments on account of the indebtedness, even though he knew they were derived wholly or partly from Lorenz's interest in the profits from the Groff fastener sales, provided that Machen's official action as the fasteners was not thereby affected.

The jury will also be instructed that if they believe that Machen of his own volition and without any suggestion from a superior officer reduced the price of the Groff fastener from $1.50 to $1.25, they should consider that fact as bearing on the good faith of the purchases of the fasteners and as tending to disprove the existence of any unlawful contract.

RANGERS

Arrested Dodge, Wanted in New York and Trying, It Is Supposed, to Reach Mexico.

Brownsville, Texas, Feb. 16.—Chas. F. Dodge, alias Charles Dougherty, wanted in New York on charges of perjury in connection with the noted Millionaire Morris bigamy case, his partner Bradley and Lawyer Kappenberg, were arrested yesterday at Alice, Texas, by Captain J. R. Hughes and Sergeant Tom Ross of the Texas Rangers' force, on an extradition warrant issued by Governor LaSalle.

Dodge and his companions reached Brownsville Friday night, coming by a steam tug from Galveston, and registering here as C. Dougherty, E. Barker and A. H. Kuzman of Chicago. They left on the stage next morning for Alice, the nearest railway station, a 39-hour ride. Ross left at 3 reached Alice ahead of the stage, met Captain Hughes by appointment, and the arrest was made.

The three were very reticent while here, and their actions aroused suspicion. Telegrams had been received inquiring about Dodge and party before they came here, as it was known at Galveston they were somewhere on the Gulf of Mexico.

CHANGE

Made in the Management of Manhattan Hotel—Mr. Herbert Spencer, in Charge.

A change was made in the management of the Manhattan hotel Sunday, when Mr. Herbert Spencer, an experienced hotel man of Columbus, assumed charge of the well known West Church street hostelry.

The building and fixtures have been purchased by Mr. Spencer and Mr. S. H. Murgage of Newcomerstown. A lively stable will be operated in connection with the hotel and will be under the management of Mr. Murgage. The stable will be located in the rear of the hotel and none but fancy horses will be kept.

Improvements of an extended nature are contemplated in the hotel and the place will doubtless be made one of the best in the city.

Wife Attempted Extortion Caught by Decoy Package.

Marshalltown, Iowa, Feb. 16.—Thos. Fuller of this city, a student of Iowa College at Grinnell, and a member of the football team, was arrested by United States Marshall Christian on a charge of using the United States mails to extort money. Fuller sent a letter to H. W. Spaulding, a wealthy buggy manufacturer, threatening to burn his property if he did not send $200 to "George H. Watkins," in care of a local hotel. Christian was notified and a package containing marked currency was sent. Fuller was arrested when he called for it and has confessed.

NEWS OF THE STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD

BULLET

FIRE IN HOLD UP TWO WEEKS AGO

Was Found by a Lineman in the Telephone Cable at Toledo.

Toledo, O., Feb. 16.—After two weeks of continuous trouble "from a ghost" on a Home telephone circuit, which could not be located with the instruments in the office, a lineman who "rode" the cable found a bullet flattened out inside the outer covering of the cable. About the time the cable went out of commission, a resident of the district was held up by highwaymen, and in his report of it he told the police that the thieves shot at him. He declared he heard the bullet whistle by his ear, but the telephone people think they have located the bullet.

WILL PLEAD GUILTY

Uppr Sandusky, O., Feb. 16.—Dr. M. C. Martin of Fremont, O., who was indicted by the September grand jury for fraudulently obtaining signatures to several promissory notes and who has been in jail here a week, has agreed to plead guilty to a lesser charge and was accordingly fined $10 and costs.

ZANESVILLE

Divorce Suit Attracts Attention—The Wife's Pendency for Office Holding Made Trouble.

Zanesville, O., Feb. 16.—Because his wife persisted in retaining the position of national secretary of the Woman's Relief Corps, according to Postmaster Fenton Bagley, on the witness stand, numerous quarrels and troubles ensued.

Mr. Bagley applied for divorce June 12, 1902, and the hearing of the case commenced in the Common Pleas court yesterday.

The plaintiff alleges that the postmaster was guilty of extreme cruelty and gross neglect. She specifies times when he is said to have struck her violently and thrown his entire weight against her. Once she alleges, he threatened to kill her and obtained money from her as a result. Also she averred that he frequently told her he did not care for her and advised her to get a divorce.

On Dec. 2, 1902, the defendant is alleged to have abandoned the petitioner.

The filing of the petition caused a big stir in the elite social circle in which the Bagleys moved.

Mrs. Bagley is one of the board of managers of the city hospital, a prominent church and benevolent worker and a leader in the Woman's Relief Corps.

The defendant has been postmaster for three years and was a prominent lawyer and politician before entering upon the duties of that office.

The plaintiff asks for divorce and the custody of two minor children, Fenton Bagley, Jr., aged 11, and Myron E. Bagley, aged 9 years. Arthur T. Bagley, 22, is the other child.

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH.

Youngstown, G., Feb. 16.—Hannah Gillespie, aged six, daughter of Jas. Gillespie, was burned to death by her clothing igniting from a grate while she was alone in the house. Neighbors attempted to save her but arrived too late.

CANDIDATES

Are Plentiful for Congressional Honors in the Eighth District—Warnock Against the Field

Marysville, O., Feb. 16.—The coming Republican congressional convention of the Eighth district, to choose a candidate to succeed Hon. W. R. Warnock of Urbana, will be one of the most interesting ever held in the state. The district is composed of Union, Delaware, Hancock, Logan, Champaign and Hardin counties. Thus far, every county has a candidate, except Delaware.

Warnock is out for a third term. Hancock county will present the name of Hon. Ralph Cole, of Findlay. Union county's candidate will be Hon. Walter C. Fullington, of Marysville.

Hardin county will present W. H. Willis of Kenton.

Logan's candidate will be Judge Duncan Dow of Bellefontaine.

STIFF FINE

HANDLED DOWN BY JUDGE SEWARD AT MT. VERNON

For Violation of Local Option Law, But Sheriff Finds Goods Gone When He Made Levy.

Mt. Vernon, Feb. 16.—Israel Waddell, indicted by the grand jury for keeping a place for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquors and also for selling liquors, pleaded guilty and was given a fine of $150 and costs in each count of the indictment and the place of business operated by Waddell was ordered abated as a nuisance by Judge C. W. Steward of Newark.

Before Waddell entered a plea of guilty, Prosecutor Stillwell announced that Waddell was not the proprietor of the place, but that it was owned by Arnold & Cochran.

The fine was given by Judge Seward as stated above. Immediately an execution was made out and the stock of Arnold & Cochran was levied upon. The place was closed up and taken possession of by the sheriff. Prosecutor Stillwell stated that as Arnold & Cochran are the real owners of the place, the stock would be sold to pay Waddell's fine and the place then closed up according to the order of the court.

When the attachment was served there were no goods of any kind found in the building, the proprietors had succeeded in getting them away. Only a few empty bottles were found.

COLUMBUS 'PHONE COMPANY

Columbus, O., Feb. 16.—The Citizens Telephone company has ordered 60 miles of cable at a cost of $150,000 and will at once make other additions and improvements. The company will issue $500,000 preferred stock.

BUSINESS

Will be Suspended on Sundays in the Village of Woodstock, Champaign County.

Marysville, O., Feb. 16.—For several years a considerable amount of business has been transacted on Sundays in the village of Woodstock, but the churches have interested themselves in the matter to the end that beginning March 6th all business houses will be tightly closed for the day.

This includes barber shops, drug stores, meat markets, hardware, groceries, etc., with the exception that the meat markets will be open from 6 to 9 o'clock during warm weather, and Dr. Sharp retains the privilege of opening his drug store in case of sickness.

INJURIES

WHICH CAUSED THE DEATH OF STEPHEN CAIN

Are Said by Accused Employees of Athens Asylum, to Have Been Accidental.

Athens, O., Feb. 16.—For the first time since the arrest of Attendants D. E. Jones and N. A. Wetherholt, who are charged with manslaughter, for killing Stephen Cain, an inmate of the State hospital, they gave their version of the affair.

They say Cain did not receive the broken ribs and punctured intestines at the institution, but received injuries while beating his way on a train when he escaped from the hospital, 48 hours before his death.

According to other testimony, Cain was not on a train except in the care of another attendant, who caught him at Carpenter and brought him to Athens on a passenger train. It was stated in the hearing that Cain walked to Carpenter, a distance of 18 miles.

The train story is the first explanation of how Cain received his injuries since the arrest of Jones and Wetherholt. Physicians say the injuries were fresh.

FRUIT CROPS

In Northwestern Ohio Are Ruined, According to Report Made Public at Toledo.

Toledo, O., Feb. 16.—According to the annual midwinter prognostication, the northwestern Ohio fruit crop has been ruined. The island prognosticator announces that the warm rain of a week ago, followed by zero weather, coated the trees with ice and has, undoubtedly, ruined hundreds of them. While this report is made annually and has come to be taken with a grain of allowance, the condition of Maumee valley peaches is undoubtedly precarious.

Three islands in the Maumee, Millers', Hoffman's and Sheats', are devoted to peach raising. These islands are under water and the ice is frozen solid around the trees. If the ice should move out of the river without being thoroughly rotted by a thaw, it would pull up thousands of trees by the roots.

GOOD ROADS

Indorsed by Delegates Who Met in the House of Representatives at Columbus Monday.

Columbus, O., Feb. 16.—Resolutions favoring National and State aid in the building of good roads were adopted by the State Convention on Good Roads, which assembled here.

Delegates from nearly every county in the state were present.

The convention was called by the General Assembly and was presided over by Senator Stewart of Cleveland, with Senator Hypes of Springfield as secretary. Lieutenant Governor Harding welcomed the delegates, who met in the hall of the House of Representatives. Addresses were delivered by United States Senator A. C. Lattimer of South Carolina; Martin Dodge, Director of the office of Public Road, Inquiries, Washington, D. C.; Heratio N. Earle, Highway Commissioner of Michigan; President W. C. Thompson, of the Ohio State University, and Frank H. Lyon of New York, Chief Examiner of Highways in that state.

The resolutions declare in favor of none of the bills pending in the National Congress or before the General Assembly, but indorse the general principle that 5 per cent of the cost of construction should be paid by the Federal government.

In the Senate Mr. Shumaker of Cuyahoga, introduced his road bill, which gives to the State Board of Public Works power to approve plans for highways. The cost of building is to be paid 40 per cent by the state, 40 per cent by the county and 20 per cent by the township. The state must appropriate not less than $250,000 annually for road improvement purposes.

Representative John G. Fisher of Cuyahoga county, will introduce a bill in line with the sentiment expressed at the convention. This bill will reduce the farmers' assessment so low that they will pay only about $9 annually for 10 years on a frontage of 1,000 feet. Heretofore the farmer has borne a much larger share of the expenses.

The bill creates the office of State Highway Commissioner at $3,000, to have general supervision of road building. The County Commissioners contract for the road, and choose the material. Upon application of any county for state aid the state will contribute for each mile of road built. Mr. Fisher has laid out this schedule of cost:

From the state, not to exceed $2,000 a mile.
From the National government, whatever amount Congress appropriates.
From the county, 25 to 40 per cent.
From the townships, 10 to 15 per cent.
From the abutting property, 10 to 25 per cent.

Each county must levy a road tax of one half a mill on the dollar. No state roads shall exceed 12 feet in width, and any excess shall be paid for by the property owners.

DAVID T. COLE

WAS SCHOOLMATE OF THE LATE SENATOR HANNA

On One Occasion Mr. Hanna Was the Means of Preventing Cole from Being Whipped.

In the general grief over the demise of Senator Marcus A. Hanna, no one in Newark more deeply deplores his death than his old schoolmate and boyhood friend, Mr. David T. Cole.

Mr. Cole, in conversation with an Advocate reporter this morning said that the Hannas settled in Ohio in 1802, and that Mark was born in New Lisbon, Columbiana county, in 1837, his father being an eminent physician, and his grandfather one of the foremost men of his day.

When a boy Mark went to school under Jesse Holmes, one of the foremost educators of his day, and when still quite young developed more than ordinary mental ability.

His parents and grandparents were Quakers, and very wealthy, and were largely interested in the copper mines in northern Michigan. They did much for the people in the mining region, establishing schools, etc.

Miss Lucretia Cole, a sister of Mr. David Cole, was installed as teacher of a school at Ontagu, Mich, which position she filled for some time with great satisfaction to all concerned. She is now living in Iowa.

When still a boy living at New Lisbon, Mark Hanna showed his influence and power among his school mates, and was always an acknowledged leader. There were two factions among the school boys, of which Mark Hanna commanded the "Sheep Hill" boys, and General Amos McCook, now of New York, commanded the "Frogtown" boys, who lived at the foot of the hill. There was great rivalry among the two factions and frequent ruptures ensued, but under the leadership of Mark Hanna the "Sheep Hill" boys always came off victorious.

David T. Cole and M. A. Hanna were schoolmates at New Lisbon, and associated together as school boys do. When a boy Mr. Cole worked for the Hannas, driving the cows, doing chores and working in the Hanna store.

On one occasion Marcus was the means of preventing Mr. Cole from receiving a thrashing in the old Quaker graveyard at New Lisbon. Mr. Cole had had some trouble with Jacob Hill, now editor of the Shelby Times, and Melville Hanna, a brother of Mark Hanna, and they were about to pounce upon Cole, when Mark stepped between the belligerents and prevented Cole from receiving the severest thrashing of his life. Ever since that occurrence Mr. Cole has had a great admiration for Marcus A. Hanna.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Nelsonville, O., Feb. 16.—Charles Rizer, a young miner, was caught in a fall of slate at the Hocking Valley mines Monday morning and instantly killed.

WAITING FOR DOUBLE FUNERAL.

Hamilton, O., Feb. 16.—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Hughes Mulford, one of Butler county's best known women, set for Monday, was postponed. John Mulford, her husband, was stricken with paralysis and is dying. Mrs. Mulford's remains will be held and a double funeral is anticipated.

THE CITY COUNCIL

Passed an Ordinance to Enable Board of Public Service to Prepare Plans for New Sewer System And Sewerage Plant Monday Night.

The City Council was called to order Monday evening with all members present excepting Judge Hunter and President Russell, who, are ill. Mr. Miller presided.

The committee on finance recommended the acceptance of the bid of Messrs. W. J. Hayes & Sons for the $47,000.00 of bonds at a premium of $2,161 and accrued interest, it being the best bid. On motion the bid was accepted.

The committee on streets recommended that the proposition of Mr. Marces to erect and maintain a boot-black establishment on West Main street be rejected. The report was adopted.

The following report from the Board of Public Service was read by Clerk Maurath:

In compliance with your directions we have inquired into the cost of having complete sewer plans for the whole city, including a purification plant, specifications and estimate of cost prepared by a competent consulting engineer in this branch of the profession. We have received propositions from six engineers or engineering firms, which range from $1,000 to $2,000. These propositions have been made on the condition that the city do all the necessary surveying and preliminary investigation under the supervision of the consulting engineer.

This consulting engineer then agrees to furnish a map of the city showing sewers to provide for the sanitary sewerage and storm waters in all parts of the city, to furnish plans for the purification plant, plans for every special feature of the proposed sewer system, specifications and estimates concerning the whole work, and also to submit the plans to the state board of health and obtain their approval of the same.

From the propositions received we have arrived at the following estimate:

For the consulting engineer.....	$1.49
For two assistants to the city engineer, extra tools, etc.....	200
Other items	110
Total	$1,809

We would respectfully urge, that this sum of money be placed at the disposal of the Board of Public Service for the above described purposes.

It is also the intention of the Board to ask the engineers who have made these preliminary proposals on which the above estimate is based, to make new bids, all on the same form, and under the same conditions as the preliminary proposals, each varied slightly from the other in phraseology, and in justice to every bidder each proposition should be expressed in the same words and in that way they are all made under the same conditions.

Respectfully submitted,

J. P. LAMB,
President B. P. S.

The report was received and filed. Clerk Maurath read the various bids received for the bonds issued by the city. The bids were received and filed.

An ordinance providing for manner of receiving new additions to the city was read for the second time. The ordinance was given its third reading and was passed under suspension of the rules.

The ordinance providing for the registration of dogs and for the establishment of a dog pound and for the appointment of a dog catcher was read for the second time.

An ordinance by Mr. Moser to appropriate $1,890 from the contingent fund to be placed at the disposal of the Board of Public Service for plans and specifications for a sewer system and sewage disposal plant was read for the first time.

Mr. J. P. Force, a consulting engineer of Columbus, was present and advised council regarding the proposed move to provide for a sewage system. He described different methods of sewage disposal.

City Civil Engineer Wells spoke regarding the matter, calling attention to the delays already made by council.

On motion the rules were suspended and the ordinance was read for the second and third times and was passed.

RESOLUTIONS.

By Mr. Moser: To instruct the City Solicitor to continue to prosecute the railroad companies for operating trains within the city limits faster than the city ordinance permits; adopted.

Good Savings Advertising

The Home Building Association Company is mailing the first of a series of Contract Cards showing the value of saving. The cards are a decided novelty in such advertising. The pictures are works of art and the whole series will be well worth preserving. It is the intention of the Association to reach every family and business house in the city, and especially all the young men. If any fail to receive them through the mail copies can be had by calling at the Association's office, No. 26 South Third street.

Savings deposits are increasing rapidly and it will be a good day for the country when every one had something laid by for the future. There is too much extravagance and not enough thrift among our happy-go-lucky people. Building Associations are doing a great deal to induce saving and nowhere have we seen a stronger appeal than is made in these cleverly illustrated and pointedly written Contract Cards now being sent out by The Home Building Association Co. 1td

SCHOOL BOARD

PLANS SUBMITTED BY MR. MILLS WERE ADOPTED.

Fire Extinguishers to be Provided for School Buildings—A Convention Held This Week.

The Board of Education met in regular session Monday evening with President Keller in the chair and members present Messrs. Haight, Fulton, Henderson, Keckley and Munch.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and a number of bills were allowed.

A communication from the secretary of the State Convention of School Boards was read, notifying the Board that the next annual convention would be held next Thursday and Friday at the Southern Hotel, Columbus, and requested that the Newark board send delegates. On motion, President Keller, Superintendent Townsend and any other members who wished to do so were authorized to attend.

Superintendent Townsend asked the advice of the board as to the disposition of the case of insubordination of a colored pupil named Coleman, who was under temporary suspension. After consideration the case was referred back to the superintendent for such treatment as he deemed best. The superintendent also suggested to the board that the present senior class who desired to leave a memorial at the High School, to be paid for out of monies raised by an entertainment heretofore given, desired an appropriation of about $25 from the board to aid in defraying expenses of graduating invitations, the board having heretofore made a rule that no further money be appropriated for such purpose because such appropriation was deemed to be illegal, instead voted an appropriation of $25 to aid senior class in purchasing memorial.

On motion the plans and specifications furnished by Architect Wilbur T. Mills of Columbus, for the construction of a four room addition to the West Newark building No. 2, and also for a four room building on Vine street in East Newark, were adopted by the board, and the clerk was authorized to advertise for bids, in the two daily papers.

On motion the board also voted an issue of 15 bonds of $1000 each, bearing 4 1/2 per cent interest, payable semi-annually for the construction of said improvements. These bonds will be numbered from 1 to 15 and will come due, one each year, the first one April 1, 1905.

W. J. Henderson reported on the matter of providing fire extinguishers for the city school buildings, and recommended the purchase of 33 Acma fire extinguishers at $9 each. B. B. Beck representing the Childs extinguisher, stated that he would furnish their extinguisher at $8.50 each. Both extinguishers had been examined by the committee and one is as good as the other. It was therefore decided that sealed bids should be sent to the clerk of the board on 35 extinguishers.
